

Charoth Imprisoned

Historical Event · The Empire of Venn

Date: Shadedeep 28, -2700 EV (Double New Moon)

Summary

In an unprecedented act of unity, the Orders of Wizardry, Clerics of the major gods, and Warlocks of Venn cooperate to construct a prison for Charoth. With divine aid from Solgarde and Malachar, and the willing sacrifice of the warlock Zebadiah Zorandor — who seals himself inside the prison to complete it — Charoth is contained. The prison is designed so that only someone with no desire to free him could find the key, considered by its builders to be an eternal lock.

In an unprecedented act of unity, the Orders of Wizardry, Clerics of the major gods, and Warlocks of Venn cooperate to construct a prison for Charoth. With divine aid from Solgarde and Malachar, and the willing sacrifice of the warlock Zebadiah Zorandor — who seals himself inside the prison to complete it — Charoth is contained. The prison is designed so that only someone with no desire to free him could find the key, considered by its builders to be an eternal lock.